Those continuing on a contractual agreement for 1963-64 with a promotion in rank are:

Benecke, R., Instructor to Assistant Professor of Accounting; Garbin, A., Instructor to Assistant Professor of Sociology; Higley, W., Instructor to Assistant Professor of Accounting; Hlavac, R., Instructor to Assistant Professor of Education, and Peters, K., Instructor to Assistant Professor of Music.

The following are on a continuance of contractual agreement on a permanent basis with promotion in rank as indicated:

Allen, R., Assistant Professor to Associate Professor of English; Brooks, M., Associate Professor to Professor of Biology; Brown, J., Associate Professor to Professor of Engineering; Hill, J., Assistant Professor to Associate Professor of Business Administration; Jaynes, W., Associate Professor and Head to Professor and Head of Psychology; Lambert, W., Associate Professor to Professor of Political Science; Newton, J., Assistant Professor to Associate Professor of Psychology; Trenholm, R., Assistant Professor to Associate Professor of Music.

Faculty members that are on a continuance of rank and contractual agreement on a permanent basis at present rank are:

Borge, P., Assistant Professor of Speech; Gorman, R., Assistant Professor and Head of Men's Physical Education; Hill, P., Assistant Professor of Art; Malik, J., Assistant Professor of Music; Marston, A., Professor of Engineering; Naylor, K., Professor of Graduate Studies; Tabor, D., Assistant Professor of Elementary Education; Vogt, P., Associate Professor of Sociology.

Physicals Are Second Phase For Screening

Throughout this month some 50 AFROTC cadets will complete the second phase of screening for the advanced AFROTC program.

The cadets are sophomores and are being given physical examinations at Offutt Air Force Base. The physicals started Monday and will continue through December 1.

The screening process for the advanced AFROTC program consists of three steps: the Air Force Officer's Qualifying Test, the physical exam, and the selection committee.

Cadets interested in the advanced program start by taking the Air Force Officer's Qualifying Test, which is divided into three parts. The sections are for pilot, navigator, and general officer.

The next step is the physical exam which the cadets are in now.

The final decision on eligibility for the advanced program is in the hands of the selection committee.

The committee will review the academic records of each cadet to pass the first two steps. If in the committee's opinion the cadet is making satisfactory progress towards a degree and is in good academic standing, he is accepted for the advanced program.

Student Directories may still be picked up in the Check Room of the Student Center. All it requires is your activity card.

OU Finale . . . THE Game; Bowl Bid Only a Possibility

By TOM ASH

The Omaha University Indians finish their 1962 football season at home tomorrow against Pittsburg State College of Pittsburg, Kansas.

The 2 p.m. encounter is THE game of the season for both teams, with the Central Intercollegiate Conference title on the line.

OU can take the championship with a win or a tie for a 4-0-1 or 3-0-2 record. Pittsburg's record would be 5-0 with a win or 4-1 with a loss.

Let's forget any talk about a post season bowl game for the time being.

A lot of people think that if OU gets by Pittsburg State tomorrow, that means an automatic trip to a bowl game. This is far from true. There are some facts that should be known to put a damper on such thinking . . . at least until next week.

Athletic Director, Virgil Yelkin, said, "We simply have received no bids and we won't talk bowl until we do." He said some bowl committees have expressed INTEREST, but that's as far as it has gone. He added that, "we have a ball game to play tomorrow, and that's our only interest right now." Yelkin also said that there's a strong possibility OU could win tomorrow and still not get a bid. The Indians are being considered along with many other schools for the holiday migrations.

That's Not All

And that's not all. There is also the possibility that University officials may decline a bid, should it come.

In accepting a bid, OU may be facing a risk of athletic probation by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA). The Indian baseball team went NCAA last year, but the rest of the athletic teams are still affiliated with the small college association (NAIA), giving OU an alliance with both national athletic associations.

The NCAA refuses to recognize the NAIA and threatens it's members who participate in post season activities with the NAIA with probation. This is a dirty word among college ranks, and what it could mean to OU is anybody's guess. They could conceivably prohibit the baseball team from playing in the NCAA playoffs and the College World Series, but apparently not much else.

Still a Long Way

So we're still a long way from any bowl. First, the team must get by Pittsburg, which may be the toughest opponent of the season; then a bid must come through; and finally a decision must be made. If the first two hurdles are cleared, the problem will apparently go to a meeting of the Faculty Athletic Committee next week.

The probable starters:

Omaha University
(51) Paul Blazeovich, 6-0, 197, Sr.LE
(65) George Jesko, 6-2, 218, Sr.LT
(74) Duane Solak, 6-0, 205, Sr.LG
(81) Ron Eissler, 5-10, 210, Soph.C
(79) Gary Baughman, 5-10, 205, Sr.RG
(63) Stan Kurtz, 6-3, 218, Jr.RT
(52) Jim Kettle, 6-2, 212, Jr.RE
(39) Carl Meyers, 6-0, 165, Jr.QB
(43) Lee Milner, 6-0, 199, Jr.LH
(23) Louie Miloni, 5-5, 145, Sr.LB
(38) Wayne Backes, 5-8, 197, Jr.FB
Kansas State
(52) Don Starkey, 6-2, 205, Sr.LE
(67) Craig Campbell, 5-0, 225, Sr.LT
(76) John Bruner, 5-10, 185, Jr.LG
(82) Jerry Archer, 6-4, 245, Sr.C
(77) Tony Simola, 5-9, 185, Jr.RG
(61) John Blair, 6-4, 235, Jr.RT
(56) Moe Coffey, 6-1, 195, Sr.RE
(42) Phil Vogrin, 6-1, 198, Sr.QB
(42) Everett Deckard, 6-1, 180, Soph.LH
(11) Bob Fulton, 5-11, 175, Sr.LB
(21) Charles Sturdevant, 5-11, 190, Sr.FB

All classes will be excused at 10:30 for a pep-rally in the Administration building auditorium.

The C.I.C. Championship will be determined by tomorrow's game with Pittsburg.

Blazeovich's Folks To See Son Play

Paul Blazeovich, left end on OU's football squad, will receive what he called "the nicest gift of my life," Saturday at the OU-Pittsburgh game.

Blazeovich's family, from Wall, Pa., had never seen co-captain Blazeovich play college football, so students from OU and friends off-campus contributed to pay transportation expenses to Omaha for his family.

The left end's father will be unable to make the trip because of illness, but Mrs. Blazeovich and two other sons will arrive in time to see the game Saturday at OU.

Band Salutes Military At Football Game

The band's half-time activities at tomorrow's game with Pittsburg State will be "A Salute to the Armed Services."

Al Travis, a music major, is in charge of the program.

"The theme is to acknowledge the Bootstrappers as an important part of the University," said Band director Jack Malik.

OU Parking Committee Releases Figures

An income of over 11-thousand dollars from Traffic fines and Meter Collections for Sept. and Oct. was reported at a meeting of OU parking committee Wednesday.

In a statement handed out by OU Controller Harold Keefover, Traffic fines accounted for $2,142.00, and $9,295.90 came from Meter collections, for a total of $11,437.90.

In a re-play of the past several years, however, the income was more than offset by Operating expenses and Capital Outlay which amounted to $16,148.06, leaving a deficit of $4,710.16.

New Spaces

Building and Grounds Superintendent Clarence Lefler, reported 130 new parking stalls in lots "P" and "J". The new stalls are all metered.

All reserved spaces have been removed from lot "J".

Lefler also reported some easing of the situation in lot "K" on Wednesday mornings. Formerly the lot was closed until nine a.m. for the exclusive use of Omaha police.

After making a survey, only forty of the stalls were found to be needed to handle the police. Campus police are still controlling the lot between seven and nine, but allowing about thirty-eight student cars to use the extra stalls.

Widening Projects

Two widening projects, one finished and the other nearing completion, have helped to ease the traffic congestion at the Elmwood Park entrance at Happy Hollow Blvd. and Pacific streets.

The City paid for the lane widening at the entrance drive, and the University had the intersection island widened at a cost of $531.35.

Report Studied

A report on parking problems and possible solutions is also being studied by the parking committee.

The report, by the University Facilities Research Center, is a study of 72 Universities in the Western Conference and the University of Chicago and includes survey data from several other large universities through the country.

Nothing definite has been proposed as of yet, according to Dean of Administration, Kirk Naylor.

The report is under study, he continued, and we feel that we do have some obligation to students to provide more parking. "We must first decide however, just how critical the problem really is."

Phone Numbers

Mrs. Eunice Rowland, who handles not only the student parking tickets but the complaints as well, reports that students are being very co-operative about paying their fines.

The only real trouble so far, she says, is a registration problem concerning from four to five hundred students.

"Many students didn't know their license numbers when they registered, so they either said they didn't drive or gave their phone number in place of their license number."

And there is always the problem of people acquiring new cars or driving another family automobile, she said.

Dunbier Out

Roger Dunbier submitted his resignation late Thursday morning as a geography instructor at Omaha University.

The Board of Regents voted to accept the resignation in the regular meeting Thursday afternoon.

Dunbier was slated to appear in Omaha Municipal Court Thursday morning on charges of malicious destruction of property and drunkenness, however the hearing was held over until Nov. 15.

Two police cruiser officers arrested Dunbier early last Saturday morning after they said they witnessed him tearing down a campaign sign in a yard at 1408 Missouri Ave.

Police said Dunbier resisted arrest and was collared after a chase on foot that ended when he fell over an embankment.

The officers said he used abusive language and that he had to be handcuffed.

University records show Dunbier was graduated from OU in 1955 with the highest grade point of any senior man in his class. He was secretary of the O Club, vice president of Omicron Delta Kappa, and a high jumper on the University track team.

From 1955 to 1959 he attended Oxford University in England where he obtained a Ph.D.

Dr. Reeves Believes Poli Sci Students Should See Rallies

"I am convinced that it is very important for students in a 'political parties' class to get out and hear an actual politician from the party of their choice at a political rally or gathering," said Dr. Earl J. Reeves, recent faculty addition to the political science department.

Dr. Reeves, a PhD at 29, teaches 15 hours of political science courses, six dealing with political parties, his major interest in his graduate work.

He said political bias in the classroom gives a good point of reference to the students on both sides. The instructor does, however, have a responsibility to the students to be as fair as possible to both national parties, he said.

Bringing bias into the class is an important element in acquainting the student with sources on information and to be on the look-out for political bias, he said.

According to Reeves, there is no completely unbiased source of information. Opinions are inevitable. Therefore, the political scientist is going to have some bias in his approach, he said.

Dr. Reeves is faculty sponsor of the Young Democrats on campus. He has attended several political rallies of both parties but could not vote Tuesday. He had not lived in the state the required length of time to be considered a resident.

Dr. Reeves has a Midwestern background. He was reared in Oklahoma and Kansas, the latter state being the source of his higher education. Reeves received his Bachelor of Science in 1954 after attending Kansas State College his Freshman year; Friends College at Wichita his Sophomore year; and his last two years at the University of Wichita.

A four-year tour of duty with the Air Force took him away from Kansas temporarily. He returned to the University of Wichita and received his MS in 1959. He gained his PhD from the University of Kansas this summer.

His last year at KU, Reeves taught American Government on a full-time basis. Two years prior to that he taught part-time. Omaha University is his first actual teaching job away from his own educational program. He finds little time to do the outside reading he enjoys, but said that is a standard problem with first-year instructors.

Powers Visited Biology Camp Last Summer

"All biology majors should go to a biological station during the summer," Eddie Powers believes it changes your view and philosophy of the biological science.

Powers, a senior, attended the summer camp at Lake Itasca in Minnesota this year. The camp was actually a summer school for graduate study in biology.

The curriculum consisted of twenty courses, all but two being graduate courses.

Eddie Powers was one of 20 undergraduate students out of 92 from across the nation.

The Natural History of Invertebrates and Fishes, and Summer Flora of Minnesota were the two courses Powers studied for credit.

The Natural History of Invertebrates and Fishes consisted of the taxonomy and ecology of organisms. This started with Rodifers and worked its way up to inland fresh water fish of the Minnesota area.

The course was made up of lectures in the morning and field trips in the afternoon.

The Summer Flora of Minnesota course dealt with the environment and classification of all plants in the area. The course was devoted entirely to field trips.

After being at camp a week Ed was elected president of the student council. He explained that it wasn't that he had gained such popularity in such a short time only that nobody else wanted the job.

He earned his board and room by washing dishes and tagging all the equipment at the camp. He also helped a Dr. Marshall, head of the camp; set up a mammal museum.

It wasn't all work and play. Fishing for bass, boating and a pub were available to the students.

M. Bullock Highlights IRE Meet Monday

The student branch of the Institute of Radio Engineers and the Omaha-Lincoln branch will combine Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Library, Conference Center to hear one of the nation's leading radio engineers.

"World's Most Powerful Radio Transmitter" will be the topic of an address by Mark W. Bullock, vice-president of the Continental Electronics Co., of Dallas, Tex.

Capable of sending signals to any United States submarine anywhere in the world, the station—located in Maine—has a two-million watt capacity. Continental constructed the super-power station.

The Monday meeting will be preceded by a "carry-tray" dinner in dining rooms A and B at 6 p.m. Parents and wives of members are invited to attend.

According to student IRE President Douglas Cozad, the meeting should be "a must" for members of the University organization.

Mr. Bullock is no stranger to the Omaha area. He was the chief engineer for numerous radio stations in Omaha and Lincoln from 1934 to 1951.

He was the founding chairman of the Omaha-Lincoln branch of the IRE and currently is regional director of the southwest states for that organization.

'Can't Take It With You' Given Well Deserved Hand

By Art Stevens

Only a few seats were empty last Saturday as the University Players, under the direction of Dr. Edwin Clark, gave their third and final presentation of "You Can't Take It With You," a delightful comedy in three acts by the late Moss Hart and George Kaufman.

The play, a helter skelter story of a helter skelter family, was warmly and skillfully portrayed by an unusually adept cast. They were led by Penny (Louise Senez) and Martin Vanderhof (Jerry Scheschy) in sparkling proof that life should be fun and that after all, "you can't take it with you"—so why worry?

Martin Vanderhof is the "Grampa McCoy" of the family and probably the one most responsible for the way things are. He quit work 35 years before and now he attends commencement exercises at Columbia U., raises snakes and advises doctors to become policemen.

Penny writes plays that never end, paints periodically and makes up a word (and what words) game in the second act which is one of the play's highlights.

Confusion

Contributing to the confusion are Essie (Cheryl Shields) and her husband, Ed (Gary Wallace). Essie takes ballet lessons (confidentially, she stinks) and makes enough candy to supply Manhattan and Staten Island, too. Ed played the xylophone with no particular talent and prints—anything—menus, circulars. His circulars, with anti-American slogans bring on the Department of Justice—"Oh, my goodness the J-men"—with a bang, bang and a bang.

The bangs are the hobby of Paul Sycamore (Ron Bojanski) Penny's husband and Mr. DePinna (Jim Kemplin) — they make fireworks in the cellar and the whole thing goes off when DePinna leaves his pipe behind as the J-men arrest everyone.

All Is Not Lost

But all is not lost. Alice Sycamore (Diane Hansen) is probably the only sane one in the family. She's pretty, works for a living and she's going to marry the boss' son, Tony Kirby (Pat Ryan).

Judy Collins as Rheba the maid and Richard King as Donald, her boy friend—have some funny lines that they deliver to great audience response. Rheba's the maid—but she's more like one of the family and Donald's on relief—indeinitely.

Boris Kolenkhov (Art Jepson) —"So, I'm a Russian"—is the ballet teacher that comes and goes and mostly stays for dinner. Jepson does comic justice to a real funny role. He can't say anything unless he yells and that's the way he introduces

New A-V Assistant From Nebraska U

The audio-visual department will have a new assistant director starting Nov. 26.

Ervan D. Heinz, a 1958 graduate of OU, is the addition to the audio-visual department and will be the assistant to Ronald Pullen the head of that department.

Mr. Heinz graduated with a Bachelor of Science in Business and previous to this position at OU he worked in the personal department of the Nebraska University College of Medicine.

Mr. Heinz is a photographer and was in that field in the Navy and in a studio in Lincoln.

His job here will be administrative; he will do no teaching.

Mr. Heinz is 30 years old and the father of four daughters.

Olga Katrina (Virginia Lawton), a cousin of the Czar, who is working at a New York restaurant. She hasn't had a decent meal since before the Revolution and volunteers to make blintzes for the Vanderhofs, who don't know the difference between pot cheese and corn flakes and could care less.

Hilariously Funny Scene

Of course, the Vanderhofs haven't had a square meal in sometime either and the Kirbys, Mr. and Mrs. of Kirby and Company, find this out when Tony brings them over on the wrong night to meet Alice's family. The result is an hilariously funny scene with everybody ending up in jail. Betty Bechtel and Ken Haas create the image of the stiffly proper Kirbys with delightful ease.

Carol Abernathy is Gay Wellington, an actress of sort who, although she never touches the stuff, seems to get it down somehow and Bob O'Neal is Henderson, an International Revenue Man who comes to collect 24 years back income tax from Grampa and loses his temper and his hat in the process.

Bob Crewdson, Russ Mullens and John Culjat were the J men.

C. Harrold Bush was the Technical Director and Desingner and Bob Crewdson was the Assistant Director. S. G. Allen was the Technical Assistant and Larry Krehbiel was the Stage Manager.

In all, the play was delightfully played and warmly received by three extremely appreciative audiences.

If you missed it, you can be sure you missed one of the highlights of the University social season.

Things Happen When Artists Get Together

Strange things are happening! Just walk past any art class and see for yourself.

Those people walking around with plaster heads in their arms don't think they are the Headless Horseman—they're enrolled in one of sculpture classes. You might see students with plaster hands, too. They must mix the plaster with their hands, and if they slow down, plaster hands are the result.

Watch out for flying white lead (paint) when passing art classes. The oil painting classes are putting their abstract ideas on canvas, and at times they get carried away. Some stand back and throw—getting more on their fellow students than on the canvas.

Oh, yes. The people running around in white lab coats are not mad scientists. They're mad artists taking precautions against the slap-paint-happy artists.

If you have some spare time, why not stop at the third floor in the Administration Building and see if you can figure out what the paintings mean. One particular painting is about 8' by 7' and looks like a plane taking off. But that's today—tomorrow it may be something else. Its creator changes it every day. It may soon be 8' by 7' by 8'—with all the paint that's on it!

There's one sure way to tell one of these artists from another student—they reek of turpentine. They have to wash in turpentine to remove the oil paint. "I'm getting dish-pan hands," bewailed one coed.

To tell if you are near the art classes listen for "drab, dreary music." To create atmosphere, one of the students brings his phonograph and plays instrumental music that was described by another art student as "weird."

How do the students feel about their projects? Said one: "The more abstract they are, the better it is—then, the professor can't figure them out. We don't know what we're doing, and neither does anyone else!"

Marines to Mark Birthday at Party

The Marine Corps officers will be wearing their uniforms today in observance of the 187th birthday of the Marines.

On Nov. 10, 1775, the Marine Corps officially began. Tomorrow night the Marines will celebrate their birthday anniversary at the Bootstrappers Dance.

There are 38 Marine officers ranging from First Lieutenant to Lieutenant Colonel on the Omaha University campus.

Library Lot Closed as Soil Samples Taken

A section of the West Library parking lot was closed off this week to allow the Omaha Testing Laboratories to take samples of the soil.

Samples of soil are taken to determine the depth and size of the footings which will support the weight of the proposed Library addition.

Samples from the East side of the library have already been taken.

Directory Surplus Available to Students

Have you picked up a 1962-63 University of Omaha Directory? If you haven't, there are still a few available at the Checkroom on the first floor of the Student Center—750, to be exact.

These surplus directories will be handed out to any student presenting an OU activity card. There is no charge. The Checkroom is open from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Typing Tests Being Offered

Students in the College of Business administration will be given a test in typewriting proficiency November 14.

The test will be given at 2:30 p.m. in room 277. Students who plan to take the test should register with Jack Hill in office 217 or Leta Holley in office 275 before November 14. Both offices are located in the Administration Building.

Students must pay a five-dollar fee for the test to the Business office.

The proficiency test can be taken only once. Students who fail to pass the test should enroll in Intermediate Typewriting.

South Africa Will Be 'Affairs' Topic

The World Affairs Institute will feature Dr. William Christiaan Naude who will lecture on "South Africa and the African Scene" Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. in the University Auditorium.

Dr. Naude is Ambassador of the Union of South Africa to the United States. A career diplomat, he is one of the most experienced officers in the Union's foreign service.

Besides representing South Africa for the past 30 years, Dr. Naude has served at South African Diplomatic Missions in Britain, the U. S., Europe and Africa, and at the League of Nations and the United Nations. He has also served as Deputy-Secretary of the Republics Foreign Affairs Department in Pretoria.

Dr. Naude was born in Stellenbosch, Cape Province, and received his education at Stellenbosch University and London University where he majored in Commerce and economics.

'Bill' Board Submits New Field Available to Those Seeking Job

Editor's Note: OU Bootstrapper-Bob O'Neal was amused at the incidents surrounding political campaign signs recently and submitted the following 'story':

By Bob O'Neal

The Sigdown Sign Construction Co., of northern New Jersey, a firm specializing in preparing political signs and billboards, will open a branch office in Omaha, highly reliable sources reported.

William F. "Bill" Board, president, announced:

"There will be plenty of opportunity for local students to be used in part-time labor. Students who are majoring in sign and billboard removal will be especially welcomed to make application."

The Sigdown president also advised that his company is looking for a local man to manage the Omaha branch office. He must be a college graduate, a Republican of sober reputation and familiar with the geographic aspects of Nebraska, he said.

The Sigdown company is sending an advance team from its home office to make the necessary arrangements for property, licensing, etc.

The team will be headed by John "Hands" Splinterarm, who currently is leading the nation in removing signs competition.

He was a strong second in the Nebraska state tournament held in Omaha last week.

According to Mr. Splinterarm, removing signs is a skill which demands extreme concentration and unusual dexterity.

"You don't pick it up overnight," he claimed.

Asked for advice for student sign removers, Splinterarm offered the Sign Remover's Slogan: "Put them up or tear them down—do it with the grain."

The movement to make Omaha University a municipal institution began in 1929. In that year the Legislature of Nebraska passed an act authorizing cities of the metropolitan class to establish and maintain municipal Universities.

'Thunderbolt' Film University Nights Feature in SC at 8

A comedy, "The Titfield Thunderbolt," will be shown in place of "Rashomon," the film previously scheduled for tonight in the Student Center.

"Thunderbolt," and a short subject on art forgeries can be seen at 8 p.m.

Stanley Holloway stars in the comedy, which deals with an ancient single-track railway's fight for survival against nationalization and a modern bus line.

The short subject "Van Meegen's Faked Vermeers" is a detective story demonstrating scientific methods used to show that accepted works of art may be forgeries.

This is a "University Nights" presentation and is free to students and faculty and staff showing I.D. cards.

Dixieland Band To Play Nov. 16

Rusty Brown & The Cell Block 7 will make their first OU appearance at the Nov. 16 all-school dance.

Billed as "a riot in Dixieland and laughter," the former Texas college boys are not only musicians but stage "comedy bits and gags" as well. They have often been compared with the Spike Jones group.

Recording artists, also, the group has cut several records for Columbia and Dixieland Jubilee labels. They recently appeared in the motion picture, "Rock It Baby, Rock It."

Sponsored by the Student Center Program Committee, the dance will be held in the Student Center Ballroom from 9-12 p.m.

The Bachelor of Arts degree with a major in music may be secured by passing satisfactorily 18 hours of upper-division courses.

Laima Runeis, Gary Hannibal Share UCS Honors As 'Cutest Pan, Ugliest Man' Contest Nets $1,742.36

The OU Cutest Pan and Ugliest Man Contest collected $1,742.36 for the UCS and the World University Service Fund, which receives one fourth of the money collected.

Laima Runeis of Sigma Kappa sorority was named Cutest Pan on campus, and Gary Hannibal of Lambda Chi Alpha received the award for being the Ugliest Man on campus.

Sigma Kappa collected the most for any organization, $533.65. Lambda Chi lead the men's organizations with $480.20.

This year's contest, handled by members of the Independent Students Association through the sponsorship of the University Service Club, collected $11.48 more than last year's drive.

Other women's organizations candidates and contributions were: Janet Grossman, Zeta Tau Alpha, $466.57; Claudia May, Alpha Xi Delta, $150.36; Kathy Bowman, Chi Omega, $32.48; and Mauxine Matthews, Independent Students Association, $17.99.

Other men's organizations were: Richard Russell, Tau Kappa Epsilon, $8.16; Joe Morocca, Theta Chi, $13.33; George Jeske, the O-Club, $17.72; Lynn Olsen, Pi Kappa Alpha, $6.19; Alpha Epsilon Pi with no candidate donated $1.49; and Terry O'Connor, Sigma Phi Epsilon, $1.35.

Pall Mall Presents~ GIRL WATCHER'S GUIDE

HIGH-FLYING
GYM-DANDY

CAMPUS TYPE IV

Few sights in all the world of girl watching are as breathtaking as the unexpected observation of a Gym-Dandy in midair maneuver. Plato might well have had the Gym-Dandy in mind when he wrote, "When a beautiful soul harmonizes with a beautiful form, and the two are cast in one mould, that will be the fairest of sights to him who has the eye to contemplate the vision."

Although the Gym-Dandy is a joy to behold even while tightening the laces of her sneakers, she must be seen in action to be fully appreciated. The same thing is true of a Pall Mall. It's a long, firm cigarette in a handsome package, but it must be tasted to be fully appreciated. Try Pall Mall and see.

Pall Mall's natural mildness is so good to your taste!

So smooth, so satisfying,
so downright smokeable!

No. Three Is Freed

There they were, one pulling and one pushing. Number Three was receiving this harsh treatment.

My first thought was, WHAT were they doing? My second thought was, WHY were they doing it, and in the front seat of a car of all places?

That poor little third party looked haggard and tired. After all, she was only one against two—and such a little one, too. Why, I was abhorred by the way those other two were manhandling her.

Every time Number Three made an effort to escape from the front seat and the grasps of One and Two, she was hurled back to the seat in a valiant but vain attempt at freedom.

Cop Absent

Where was the campus policeman? Should I alone attempt to free fair maiden Number Three from her two wicked captors? Was I man enough to attempt such valor? Was I another Audie Murphy?

Thoughts of being a hero flashed through my mind. Thoughts of cowardice also crept across my now-feverish brow.

I couldn't just stand idly by and permit this action to take place on the Omaha University campus.

Just as I was about to save fair maiden Number Three from her ordeal, she broke from the arms of her captors and was away to freedom.

Freedom

I was overjoyed at this happening. Good for little Number Three—she was free, free, free.

All I have to say is, those two captors were lucky I didn't act sooner.

Yeah, those two sorority pledges were lucky they let little Number Three go because they didn't scare me.

I'll bet that little active got her courage to escape when she saw me readying to attack.

But she just didn't want those two pledges to get hurt.

Yeah, that's why!

A candidate for the Bachelor of Fine Arts degree may present up to a maximum of 68 hours in his major field.

Weekend to See 4 Greek Parties

Four sorority-fraternity exchange parties have been planned for this weekend.

Alpha Xi Delta sorority and the Tri L's fraternity will hold their exchange at the Offutt Park pavilion tonight. The E. T. Combo, led by Bob Ivey, will play for the party from 7:30 p.m. to midnight.

Saturday night the Alpha Xi's will hold their annual exchange with the Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity. A hobo theme has been planned for the party at the Benson Park pavilion. Social chairmen are Merrily McCann and Mike Whitney.

The Chi Omega's will have their exchange party with the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity tonight.

The Vikings Combo will play for the party from 8 p.m. to 11 p.m. at the Miller Park Pavilion.

Shirley Johnson and Steve Gidley are the social chairmen for the party.

Zeta Tau Alpha sorority and Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity will also have their exchange party tonight. This exchange begins at 8 p.m. at Hill Haven.

Vinski, Roberts, Potash Return from Estes Park

Returning from the Independent Students Association national convention was Liz Vinski, pres., Kathy Roberts and Dorothy Potash, ISA co-sponsor.

The three-day convention was held at Estes Park, Colorado, and featured various workshops.

Talent Tryouts Run Tue., Wed.

Auditions for the All-School Talent Show will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 13 and 14, at 3:30 p.m. in the Administration Building auditorium.

Students may sign up for the tryouts in Room 250 Student Center from Thursday, Nov. 8 to noon, Wednesday, Nov. 14th. Each act need only audition one day.

The Talent Show, sponsored by the Student Council, will be held Wednesday, Nov. 21, at 3:30 p.m. in the auditorium.

The acts will be classified as "group" and "individual." The "group" acts will be limited to six participants per act.

Trophies will be presented to first and second place in each division.

Students must compete in the Talent Show with the same act that was auditioned. Acts must not exceed five minutes.

Finalists for the show will be posted on the Student Council board, second floor of the Student Center on Thursday, Nov. 15th.

Participants will be judged on the basis of talent, poise, and originality of presentation.

Shari Zagor and Kay Borchman are co-chairman of the show.

Course credits from the University of Omaha are accepted by other colleges and Universities which are members of the North Central Association and by other regional accrediting agencies.

Ten Seniors Will Suit Up on Sat. For Final Game With Pitt. State

Ten seniors will don football uniforms for the last time Saturday in Omaha's season finale against Pittsburg State.

Duane Salak would have made the final total an uneven eleven but an injured knee will keep the Schuyler, Nebraska, senior out of uniform. He was the starting left guard.

In Salak's normal position will be Tony Roberto from Middletown, New York. He is one of the ten playing their last contest.

All eyes will be on two outstanding seniors who are in line for possible conference national honors. Paul Blazeovich, an outstanding performer at left end throughout the year and the "toe" behind Coach Al Caniglia's kicking game, will be trying to add to his punting average. He's a native of Wall, Pa.

At right half will be the little man who has thrilled Omaha fans and drilled Omaha's opposition with power-packed running. Five-foot-five Louie Miloni, a home grown product from Central High School, will be in the lineup for the last time.

Other starters in their last encounter are George Payne, defensive safety and Dean Taylor, defensive halfback. Payne is from Creighton Prep and Taylor is a North High grad.

At left tackle will be George Jesko and on the other side, at right guard, Gary Baughman. Jesko is from Wall, Pennsylvania, and Baughman is a former Westside lineman.

Center Mel Masek, end Max Jones and quarterback Dave Gibson round out the ten who are ending their Omaha football careers with a championship effort. Masek is a South High product, Jones is from Stanton, Iowa and Gibson is from Hillsboro, Illinois.

Lou Miloni acted as a spokesman for the departing seniors:

"The fact that this is the last game and it happens to be for the championship, makes this all the more significant. We hope to make this final appearance worthy of a great team."

Sigma Kappa Sec. Janet Crist Feted

Janet Crist, Sigma Kappa traveling secretary, was honored at the sorority's Founders Day celebration at the Sheraton-Fontenelle Hotel Nov. 7.

The sorority was founded at Colby College, Waterville, Mo., Nov. 9, 1874.

The group will hold initiation ceremonies Nov. 11 for Miss Daryl Olson, French instructor, and Mrs. Elizabeth Code.

Following initiation, there will be a reception in the Student Center Ballroom for the faculty in honor of the new initiates and the sorority's new patroness, Mrs. Cathern Danielson.

Zekes Lead in Flag Football Indian Cagers Look Improved, But Lambda Chi's Grab Archery Only Four Upperclassmen Return

Zeke Moe Joes, holding a record of eight wins and no losses have virtually wrapped up the Intramural Flag Football crown for the second successive year. With only four games left on the regular season slate next week the Zekes would have to be defeated in both of their remaining games. Pi Kaps hold only an outside chance of sharing the crown with Zekes, this would come about by a culmination of two Zeke losses and two Pi Kap victories.

After the third week of Intramural Archery competition, Lambda Chi leads the field with a total of 3002 points, collecting 952 tallys during last Friday's meet on the University track. Pi Kap is a strong second scoring 1735 points; TKE is third with 1275 and Sig Ep fourth at 617.

Stanley R. Winslow is high individual yeoman, totaling 1976 throughout the three meets. Steve Johnson holds second position with a 1534 total.

The last of four archery meets is scheduled for this afternoon at 3:15 on the University track.

by Jim Mone

Optimism is high this year on the Omaha University basketball floor with the start of the new season under way.

The club, coached by James Borsheim, is plagued by an oversupply of underclassmen and an under-supply of juniors and seniors. Only two juniors and two seniors are expected to make the team and only five lettermen are returning.

The outlook for a better team is looking good with more height and better scoring power. The Indians should be deeper in all positions with freshmen, sophomores and transfers expected to provide the extra needed strength for the cagers.

One of the top returnees is 6'7" Larry Villnow, a sophomore who should provide the team with good board work as he did last year to become one of the top rebounders in the league.

Two lettermen were lost to the team this season. They are Ken Connor and Dave Hagglund.

Three New Jersey boys, an Omaha Cathedral boy, an Iowan and an Indian guard should provide the young team with outstanding performances.

Second Year for Jim

Coach Borsheim is starting his second season as OU coach after a 5-14 record last year. He is a 1946 graduate of Westmar College and in five years at Dakota Wesleyan University, he had a record of 73 wins and 37 losses.

Borsheim's outlook for the team is not real high although he feels that all of the clubs in the CIC should be much more balanced than last season. "I look for Fort Hays to win the CIC title again with a good battle from mEmporia, followed by St. Benedicts, Pittsburg, Washburn and Omaha, in that order," he added.

Not a Champion

Although the Indians should be improved over last year, which isn't saying too much, it still is not a high enough calibre to even be considered a championship ball club. However, the team won't have to go very far to better last year's showing.

Bob Gibbs,

6-6, 210-Bob is a freshman coming to the OU ranks from Cathedral High and should provide the team with some new blood in his forward position.

Gary Gilmore

6-0, 165-Gary is a sophomore coming from Central High. He will be playing guard.

Bruce Hunter

6-3, 195-Bruce is a three-letter man in basketball. This year he ends his caging career. Bruce, a Central graduate, has provided the team with excellent shooting and has played well in his position at forward. No doubt about it, Bruce should be a starter.

Paul Kaster

6-0, 165-Paul is a junior who lettered last year. He is fast and last year was the leading scorer, average-wise, in the CIC. He should provide many points this year when he returns to his guard position.

John Lloyd

6-3, 185-John, a transfer from Nebraska, is expected to spark the team in the forward position. John comes from Newark, New Jersey, and is a freshman.

Vic Meyers

6-1, 165-Vic is a sophomore coming to OU from Creighton Prep. Vic will be playing guard.

Bernie Miller

6-3, 180-Bernie is a Ralston High grad who lettered last year in his freshman year. He will be playing forward.

John Miller

5-11, 185-John is a freshman from Mountain Lakes, New Jersey and will be playing at guard.

Lou Murrillo

6-2, 165-Lou comes to us from East Chicago, Indiana where he was with a club which was runner-up for that state's title. Lou will be pushing for recognition as a guard. He is a freshman.

Charles Meyers

5-11, 165-Charles may be trying to topple Joe Neuberger in the guard position. This freshman is from Newark, N. J.

Joe Neuberger

6-10, 170-Joe is a senior with three basketball letters in his favor. Joe is a crowd favorite as a starting guard. He is from Creighton Prep.

Larry Villnow

6-7, 220-Larry, who lettered last year as one of the best rookies in the league is expected to do a great job in rebounding. Larry is a Benson graduate, a sophomore, and plays center.

Jim Winegart

6-6, 215-Jim is a transfer from Norfolk Junior College and is a junior who will probably be trying hard for honors at center against Villnow.

Ed Woodward

6-8, 210-Ed is a graduate of Ralston High and is now a junior. He will be a top contender for the center position against Villnow.

Rich Tompsett

6-2, 180-Rich is a Benson grad who should provide good competition for other would-be starters at guard position. He is a freshman.

OU Second Half Blitz Buries Washburn After Slow Start

By Mike Moran

Omaha's Indians, sensing post season bowl smells in the air, overcame a slow start to trample Washburn, 41-14, last Friday at Topeka.

The win, witnessed by some 500 OU students and fans who migrated from Omaha, gave the Indians their third conference win against a single tie and set up the CIC championship with Pittsburgh State, tomorrow at University Stadium.

OU scored only once in the first quarter as they spent most of the period fighting off a Washburn ground attack that rolled for 300 yards, most for the year against the beefy Omaha line. The score was 7-0 after one period thanks to Gerald Allen's 94 yard runback with an intercepted pass after the Ichabods had driven to the OU seven yard line.

Allen took the pass at just the right moment and rambled down the sidelines without being touched by the startled Washburn defenders. Carl Meyers kicked his first of four points from placement to make it 7-0.

The Indians added two more scores in the second period to go ahead, 21-7 at the half. After halting a Washburn drive on their own 40, the Indians forced a punt. Ron Heck's boot was fielded on the sideline by Louie Miloni and the 150 pound scabbard took off down the sidelines for a 73 yard sprint. Dave Gibson ran for the point after a bad snap to make it 14-0.

The Ichabods punched over a score following a 63 yard punt return of their own which gave them possession on the OU 34.

The Indians came right back with a sustained drive capped by Roger Sayers' sprint into the end zone from the eight yard line. Meyers added the point from placement to make it 21-7 at the half.

Kearney Wins Cross Country

Kearney, led by Hylke van der Wal, walked off with team and individual honors last Saturday in the 1962 Midwest Amateur Athletic Union cross-country meet held at Elmwood Park.

Kearney led second place Doane by 45 points while holding their points to a mere 19 points to 64 for Doane and 83 to third place Kearney "B."

Hylke van der Wal ran the four mile course in 21:13.8. The record is 21:06 held by two runners. Todd Ferguson of Midland ran second in 21:20 and was followed by one of the two record holders, Dean White of Doane.

Gene Somer, an Omaha U student running unattached, finished 28th with a time of 25:01.

The field of 35 also included two former Omaha U. students. Don McMahon who participated in track here six years ago ran the four miles in 27:07. Don was a half-miler here and just began running the longer distances this year. He started the distance running to help a younger brother become interested in cross-country. McMahon's work with his brother helped young McMahon win a cross-country meet for South High in Lincoln.

Richard Beem, a student here in the early 50's ran the distance in 29:24. This was his first meet since taking up the sport in a physical fitness program.

In the NAIA meet coming up Nov. 24 over the same course four of the top nine runners last year have stated they will attend. Applications will be accepted until Monday.

OU had been thoroughly out-yarded in the first half and had possession for a limited amount of plays but had used their alertness and speed to take advantage of Washburn miscues.

Comeback Team

The second half was a different story as the Indians completely monopolized play after allowing the Ichabods another score just after the start of the third quarter to pull them within 21-14.

Carl Meyers capped an OU march with one of the five passes thrown by the Indians all night. It was a 24 yarded to Jim Kettle Who slipped behind the Washburn secondary to gather in the toss after a beautiful fake by Meyers. Meyers again kicked the point to make it 28-14.

The Indians weren't through by any means, and they stormed back to score again after taking over on their own 45. Sayers scored on a sweep from the 32, just eluding the grasp of a last Ichabod on the five. A run failed and the Indians led, 34-14.

Moments later, with Wayne Backes carrying most of the way, Omaha scored again. Sayers skirted right end for the score from eight yards out and Meyers added the point to raise the tally to 41-14.

Right after the placement a wild brawl broke out among the players, and both benches and many spectators rushed onto the field. Several individual fights broke out but no one was injured. One spectator who made a beeline for Roger Sayers never got there as Jimmy (Boots) Jones and Artie Reynolds collaborated to "restrain" him.

Not a Word Was Spoken

The game proceeded without incident and both teams left the field at the gun without speaking.

OU stuck almost entirely with its ground game and used the pass only when needed. Backes paced the Indians with 76 yards in 11 carries; Miloni carried 10 times for 60 yards, Sayers 59 on five carries, Lee Milner 42 yards on 12 carries, Artie Reynolds 42 yards on seven tries and Gerry Allen 33 yards in five carries.

Meyers connected on two of five passes as he kept the OU air game under wraps for Pittsburgh scouts. He hit Kettle for the TD and connected with Paul Blazevich for a 13 yarder in the last quarter.

The OU pass defense, led by Don Crum and George Payne, was again improved, as it limited the Ichabod aerial game to a mere 14 yards while intercepting two passes.

What Happens to Athletic Fund?

By Bob O'Neal

Will basketball be dropped from the University athletic program because of poor attendance the past few seasons?

The answer, of course, is an emphatic "no!"

Basketball is, and still continues to be an integral part of the school athletic program — the won and lost averages not withstanding.

But in this day of box office philosophy when it seems the best things in life are far from free, can poor attendance affect our athletic program—basketball in particular?

To understand any reasonable answer, you must have a layman's view of the financial structure of athletic support.

First, separate the monies needed to support the school athletic program into two separate packages, the overall budget—similar to any other department budget and the athletic grant-in-aid program.

The budget is an established amount that never seems to be enough and is forever going up. But the grant-in-aid program, although fixed to a $20,700 maximum by the Board of Regents, can be a bit more complicated.

Two Sources

Grant money comes from two major sources, receipts from athletic events and a portion of the student activity fee of $12, which every student who carries six hours or more pays, or if you didn't, keep still.

For example, there were 4700 fans on hand for the Emporia-Omaha U clash on October 20. Of these, 2,030 paid—594 of them through-season tickets. A total of $1498.50 was collected at the gate from 1,076 people with one St. Bernard getting in free.

This money went into the grant-in-aid fund and will be used to support the equivalent of 60 tuition grants for potential Indian athletics next year. The 60 figure is another limit imposed by the Board of Regents. This can be reduced quickly if the grant is given to an out-of-city resident, who is required to pay a double tuition.

Meanwhile, the student activity fee is being hacked into four even pieces: general student activities, the student center, publications and athletics.

The fourth, scheduled for athletics, is sliced even further. Half of it goes to the Intercollegiate program and the other half is split between men and women's intramurals. Or, if you want to make it more personal,

75 cents from each student.

No Program?

One item that does have to stay on a self-supporting basis is the game program. The old adage "you can't tell the players without a program" may become more true than popular.

While Athletic Business Manager Harvey Vogler declined to comment, the absence of a game program for basketball seems to be a good possibility. This is based on the poor support given to the Indian hoopers in their last few dismal seasons.

This is not to be confused with the athletic program at the University of Omaha which is not self-supporting and probably never will be as long as St. Bernards are allowed to get in free. But attendance does not affect the future of basketball, or any other sport, financially that is.

Psychologically, shabby attendance is the worst thing that can happen to a team short of having a 5'5" center.

But it's only money and college spirit . . . who needs it?

GLOOM AT THE TOP

Oh, sure, you've been busy, what with going to classes, doing your homework, catching night crawlers, getting married—but can't you pause for just a moment and give thought to that dear, dedicated, lonely man in the big white house on the hill? I refer, of course, to the Prexy.

(It is interesting to note here that college presidents are always called "Prexy." Similarly, trustees are called "Trixie." Associate professors are called "Axy-Pixy." Bursars are called "Toxy-Woxy." Students are called "Algae.")

But I digress. We were speaking of the Prexy, a personage at once august and pathetic. Why pathetic? Well sir, consider how Prexy spends his days. He is busy, busy, busy. He talks to deans, he talks to professors, he talks to trustees, he talks to alumni. In fact, he talks to everybody except the one group who could lift his heart and rally his spirits. I mean, of course, the appealing, endearing, winsomest group in the entire college—you, the students.

It is the Prexy's sad fate to be forever a stranger to your laughing, golden selves. He can only gaze wistfully out the window of his big white house on the hill and watch you at your games and sports and yearn with all his tormented heart to bask in your warmth. But how? It would hardly be fitting for Prexy to appear one day at the Union, clad in an old rowing blazer, and cry gaily, "Heigh-ho, chaps! Who's for sculling?"

No, friends, Prexy can't get to you. It is up to you to get to him. Call on him at home. Just drop in unannounced. He will naturally be a little shy at first, so you must put him at his ease. Shout, "Howdy-doo, sir! I have come to bring a little sunshine into your drear and blighted life!" Then yank his necktie out of his vest and scamper goatlike around him until he is laughing merrily along with you.

Then hand him a package and say, "A little gift for you, sir." "For me?" he will say, lowering his lids. "You shouldn't have."

"Yes, I should," you will say, "because this package is a carton of Marlboro Cigarettes, and whenever I think of Marlboro, I think of you."

"Why, hey?" he will say curiously.

"Because Marlboros have taste, and so do you," you will reply.

"Aw, go on," he will say, blushing furiously.

"It's true," you will say. "Moreover, Marlboro has a filter, and so do you."

"In my swimming pool, you mean," he will say.

"Yes," you will say. "Moreover, Marlboro has a soft pack, and so do you."

"My limp leather brief case, you mean," he will say.

"Yes," you will say. "Moreover, the Marlboro box has a flip-top, and so do you."

"But I don't have a flip-top," he will say.

"But you will," you will say. "Just light a Marlboro, and taste that tasty taste, and you will surely flip your top."

Well sir, you will have many a good chuckle about that, you may be sure. Then you will say, "Goodbye, sir, I will return soon again to brighten your lorn and desperate life."

"Please do," he will say. "But next time, if you can possibly manage it, try not to come at four in the morning."

Tackle Petersen Nearly Gave Up Game; Now He's 'Big Wheel' of Defensive Line

Big Jack Petersen . . . 6' 6", 275.

by Ken McEwen

Many call him "Konga," and he is deserving of the name. He weighs 275 pounds and stands 6 foot 6 inches.

Jack Petersen is a pro football size guy playing college ball. The proof of his professional capabilities is that he has received four feelers from the National Football League and six from the American Football League.

"Big Pete" almost passed up football at OU though, because of an injury he suffered in the 1960 high school Shrine Bowl game. Jack hurt his feet badly in the game and was told by his doctor that he would never play the sport again. He lost any scholarships that he had been offered by other schools as a result of this injury.

So Pete ended up at OU his freshman year and didn't play any football his first semester. But during spring football practice some of the team members talked him into giving the game another try. Pete did, and played in the spring alumni game. He said that he couldn't walk for about two weeks after the game, but he had at least proved to himself that he was still capable of playing.

Jack said that his feet still bother him some, but by watching him on the field, you could never tell it. Opponents prefer to go around his tackle spot instead of through it.

The North high grad is playing his second year of varsity football. He was elected to the Central Intercollegiate Conference Second team in 1961.

Pete said the only gripe he has about his size compared to the smaller sized players is the amount of food they receive on road trips. "Little guys like Miloni get the same helping of food that us big guys get."

The 20-year-old Junior Economics major is carrying a 2.9 accumulative average. He's an ardent hunter and likes to participate in and watch almost any sport.

Petersen says "I think by the end of the season that we will be one of the toughest small college teams in the nation." Pete will be one of the reasons behind the team's success if his prediction holds true.

4 Home Games On Tap in '63

With the completion of the football season tomorrow against Pittsburg, the 1962 schedule has been released with a fine set of four home games.

Idaho State of Pocatello, Idaho, returns to the schedule after two years absence. It will be the second game of the 63 season here at OU against the team that beat Drake last Saturday. Drake had lost only one game prior to that game, that being against Iowa State. OU returns the invitation for the 1964 season. Drake is also on slate.

"The schedule makes the OU home slate a real attractive one," commented Virgil Yelkin, athletic director.

All OU fans who hold reserve seats this year will be asked if they want to reserve the same seats for the 1963 slate at tomorrow's game.

This week's the Indians are rated 16th in the nation in the NAIA. The schedule:

- *Sept. 21—Morningside
- *Sept. 28—Idaho State
- Oct. 5—Northern Illinois
- Oct. 12—Ft. Hays
- Oct. 19—Emporia
- *Oct. 26—St. Benedicts
- *Nov. 2—Washburn
- Nov. 9—Pittsburg
- Nov. 16—Drake
- *denotes home games

Coach Al Caniglia has issued the first call for wrestling practice. The first official session will be Monday at 3:30. Anyone interested, report to the fieldhouse locker room.

Uphill Battle Now Pays Off

By Mike Moran

Win, lose or draw tomorrow against Pittsburg State, OU fans should leave the stadium with a feeling of pride in having seen a good team that made itself a great one through sacrifice and hard work.

This is already the finest season since 1956 for an Omaha University eleven and probably a vintage year for fan interest also.

At stake tomorrow, although many do not realize it, are many things which will make it a great season or just another sour one for the eleven departing seniors.

A win over the defending national champions will almost assuredly bring a number of bowl invitations and a national ranking. A win will serve to blot out the memory of last year's 34-18 loss to the Gorillas that decided the CIC championship.

At stake itself is the CIC championship, Omaha's first since joining the conference in 1959.

But most important is the satisfaction that the win will bring to the seniors and the fans who now point with pride to Omaha U's football team and say "Look what we did!"

The members of this team can have something to remember to tell for the years to come. They can say with assurance that they played on the finest college team in Nebraska in 1962.

Thick and Thin

A special thanks is in order to these seniors who have struggled through both the thick and thin of OU football fortunes. Many of them played on Omaha teams that would have had trouble licking some local high schools. In fact OU was once referred to as the finest high school team in Omaha.

I doubt that their memory, though, will go back much farther than a night in May two years ago at Westside Stadium when a determined bunch of gridders got together and whipped the OU alumni for the first time in several years.

That game was a turning point in many ways, for it signaled to those who were in doubt that OU not only could field a representative team but that they did have fans, too, who would see them through the next year.

The rest is history, twelve wins, four losses and a tie. Coach Al Caniglia voted outstanding small college coach by the Rockne Club. Paul Blaze-vich named Little All-America, Four CIC first team all stars, and Pep Rallies that were more than just a diversion.

Final Game

The stage is set. Louie Miloni, Paul Blaze-vich, George Payne, Mel Masek, Max Jones, Dave Gibson, Duane Salak, Gary Baughman, Tony Roberto, Dean Taylor, and George Jesko are ready for the last act or maybe just the beginning of the greatest OU season in history.

They will leave behind a team that may be better than they were, or they may leave behind one that wins five CIC championships, but they will never be matched in one respect . . . they came from the very bottom—almost losing football altogether, to establish something for OU students who wished they had something to be proud of.

Don't think they won't be ready tomorrow because they will be . . . And don't hesitate to yell yourself hoarse tomorrow afternoon because your sacrifice represents only a fraction of the effort that you will be seeing down below . . .
